AMENDMENT TO THE FALL COVID-19 PROTOCOL Updated August 19, 2020

Temperature Check:

In the original Fall 2020 COVID-19 Protocol, we proposed establishing checkpoints for individuals to get their temperatures checked prior to entering a campus facility. Across 9 campuses and sites, we established the best plans we could to try to capture all campus visitors. Each campus, due to logistic and layout differences, had different plans and different ways to conduct these checks.

With the majority of Fall 2020 classes being offered online, with the exception of allied health, career technical and certain academic labs, we would like to propose eliminating temperature checks from our general protocol.

According to the Chancellor's MEMO EXE-059, campuses with student housing must institute temperature checks and questionnaire protocols for those students. We have two campuses that have student housing – Bay Minette and Brewton. Since our student housing residency for Fall 2020 for both dormitories is athletes and resident assistants only, those students will be thoroughly screened (temperature and questionnaire) by the respective coach and/or residence hall director.

Exception:

The Aviation Center at Brookley Field will continue to conduct temperature checks due to the nature of their program not being able to go virtual if an outbreak should occur. That site is one facility with one entrance, and checks are done easily and conveniently for our students.

Facial Coverings/Masks:

Regardless of temperature check protocol, facial coverings/masks are required on all campuses. Masks may be removed only when social distancing can be established. For certain Career Technical programs, such as Welding and Aviation, masks may be substituted for a facial covering that is suitable for the lab setting, such as a face shield.

Communication Plan:

The College will use the Canvas platform to send notifications and updates to all faculty, staff and students. All students have a Canvas account, regardless of their enrollment in online courses. Notifications sent through the Coastal News and Coastal Student News platforms in Canvas generate e-mails to the individuals' inboxes. Additionally, the College will continue to update the COVID-19 website with updates and will share updates on the College's official social media accounts.
